Great feelings bath she of her own, Which lesser souls may never know, God giveth them to her alone, And sweet they are as any tone Wherewith the wind may choose to blow.

Yet in berself she dwelleth not, Although no home were half so fair; No simplest duty is forgot, Life hath no dim and lenely spot

That doth not in her sunshine share. She doeth little kindnesses, Which most leave undone or despise;

For nought that sets one heart at ease, And giveth happiness or peace, Is low-esteemed in her eyes.

She bath no scorn of common things. And though she seem of other birth, Round us ber heart entwines and clings, And patiently she folds her wings, To tread the humble paths of earth.

Blessing she is; God made her so. And deeds of week-day holiness Fall from her noiseless as the snow, Nor hath she ever chanced to know That aught were easier than to bless.

She is most fair, and thereunto Her life doth rightly harmonize, Feeling or thought that was not true Ne'er made less beautiful the blue Unclouded heaven of her eyes.

On nature doth she muse and brood, With such a still and love-clear eye-She is so gentle and so good, The very flowers in the wood, Do bless her with their sympathy.

She is a woman-one in whom The spring-time of her childish years Hath never lost its fresh perfume, Though knowing well that life hath room For many blights and tears.

And youth in her a home will find Where he may dwell eternally; Her soul is not of that weak kind, Which better love the life behind, Than that which is, or is to be.

I love her with a love as still As a broad river's peaceful might, Which by high tower and lowly mill, Goes wandering at its own will, And yet doth ever flow aright.

And on its full deep breast serene, Like quiet isles my duries lie; It flows around them and between, And makes them fresh, and fair, and green, Sweet homes wherein to live and die.

Lead and Copper Trade of the West. The lead trade of the West is rapidly on the inerease. The amount smelled in Wisconsin and in the vicinity of Galena, the present season, exceeds the total number of pounds produced in the whole United States, two years ago.

Lead mines are now worked in eight States and at the taking of the census in 1840, the following particulars were gathered: There was mined in

The last Galena paper contains a statistical account of the amount shipped from that place for the last three years; which includes the amount mined in Illinois and Wisconsin.

1841 "32.438,280 1842 "32,388,130

Within the last eighteen months an excellent road has been opened from Milwaukie to the Mississippi, passing through the mining district, whick will be much used hereafter in sending lead to the East by way of the lakes. A ready the business has commenced, and last year (1342) 26,840 pigs of lead were shipped at Milwau are for New York, weighing 1,883,700 pounds, besides 2614 kegs of

When the canal is finished through Wisconsin, this vast lead freight will be floated through the lakes and Erie canal to market. It now gives employment to hundreds of keel and flat bouts from Galena to St. Louis, where it is re-shipped for Few Orleans, and then again re-shipped for New York or Europe. By way of the lakes and Erie canal, it could be accomplished in 15 days.

The copper mining business of Wisconsin is becoming one of great importance. In 1841, about 25,000 pounds were shipped east. The past year, it has greatly increased, and we learn that new smelting establishments are being erected at Cassville and Dodgeville.

Northern Michigan will, at some future day, also besome a great mining district. Mr. Featherstonehaugh's report to the General Government, represents it as abounding with valuable minerals. In this, Mr. Owen's Geological Report agrees, and more recently, the State of Mchigan has had the territory explored by the State Geologist, Dr. Houghton. He has made his first report to the Legislature, and will soon make his second.

Of the abundance of copper and lead the Doctor has the fullest confidence. In opening a vein, with a single blast he threw out nearly two tons of copper ore, and with it were numerous masses of pure copper, from the most minute speck to forty pounds in weight! Of the ores examined, their purity proved to be from 51 per cent. down to 21. The great mines of Cornwall, in England, have not produced over 12 per cent. since 1771, and since 1822, have not averaged over 8 per cent. The ore worked in Wisconsin averages about 25 per cent.

There is a copper rock on the Antenagon river, estimated to weigh between three and four tons. A piece of it chiseled off by the Doctor and analyzed, contained 98 per cent. of pure metal. While at Detroit a friend of ours showed us a piece which he cut from the mass, weighing four pounds, and such was its toughness that he broke twenty-two chisels in obtaining it. The lead trade of Wisconsin and Galena is already a business of a million dollars a year. In a few years that of copper will equal it. The lead business has already become an article of importance in our foreign trade. We find, by referring to the English statistics, that only ter years since Great Britain exported to this country 9,792,000 ibs. The tables are now turned. For the past five years we have imported none of the article, and in 1841 commenced the exportation of large quantities of it to England. The English have heretofore supplied the Chins market, where immense quantities of it are used in lining tea chests, &c. Three years ago, the Boston merchants made shipments of the article to Canton, and, being able to undersell the British, the trade in one year increa ed to an export of 1,510,136 lbs. The exports the past year have greatly exceeded the previous one. In 1830, the product of all the lead mines in the country was a little rising 10,000,000 lbs., and we imported for our own consumption. In 1841, we not only supplied ourselves, but a regular export of it is now made to the following foreign countries, which heretofore have been mostly supplied by England, viz: Russia, Hause Towns, France on the Mediterranean, Cuba, Hayti, Texas, Mexico, Central Republic of America, Venezuela, Brazil, Argentine Republic, New-Grenada, Asia, and [Roch. From the Cincinnati Gazette. Oregon Territory.

The debate on this subject excites a good deal of interest in the United States Senate, and is becoming a topic of remark in the leading press on We condense the following statement of the merits of the case from Mr. Calheun's speech :

 Priority of discovery by Captain Grey of Boston, in 1788, of the mouth of the Columbia. From this follows the right to such country, watered by this river to its sources. This discovery was explored more fully afterward by Lewis and Clarke. The cession by Spain of all her rights of territory north of the 42d parallel of latitude.

3. The French claim to which the United States succeeded. On the other hand, Great Britain sets up her title to the same territory on the following grounds: 1. Priority of discovery by Mears, sailing under Vancouver. 2. That Spain in 1790 yielded to Great Britain free access and settlement to this country with her own subjects.

3. The cession to Spain by France, in 1763, of all her rights.

As matters stand, therefore, the United States assert a complete and perfect title to the Oregon Territory: Great Britain claims only the right of admittance for her subjects, for all the purposes of trade, settlement, &c. Various efforts have been made to settle this conflict of titles. As a compromise, our Government offered to fix the parallel of 49" as a limit between us on that coast; that of Great Britain to claim nothing south of the mouth of the Columbia River in latitude 46° .-These efforts failed, neither party accepting the propositions made.

A fresh negotiation was opened in 1817. Then it was agreed that the respective claims of each country should remain for ten years, each having the common enjoyment of it for trading, hunning or settlement for those purposes.

In 1827 another attempt was made to dispose of his question. It failed. The two Governments returned to the understanding of 1817, and agreed to yield to each other a portion in common, with liberty to renounce the arrangement on either side upon a year's notice.

It thus appears that Great Britain makes no claim to the right of colonizing, and that we, by the convention, have prohibited ourselves from taking exclusive possession or jurisdiction.

Now the bill before the Senate violates the treaty of 1827. It confers upon our citizens fixed pos session in grants of land. It does not confer it at once, but it binds the Government to do it. It is in reality taking possession of the country. A sovereign power could not make an act more complete in this respect, the only limit in the bill being the alleged extent of our territory, so that it excludes Great Britain from the whole now in dispute. On the other hand that Government had been more cautions. The act of Parliament is not to take possession of the country, or grant its soil, but to exend to the British subjects the protection of the British law.

We should pursue a juster course. Whether the treaty was wisely or unwisely made, we entered into it, and are bound by it. We must give the year's notice before we can grant land in, or take possession of, the Oregon territory. But a surer policy still remains. If we rush into contest with Great Britain, as we must do, should we violate our tr-aty with her, and forfeit our faithwhen she has maintained hers, we endanger every thing on that distant coast. Her resources in Asia are great. She could concentrate them in the Pacific far sooner than we, and in such force as to put us at defiance. But if, not yielding our rights, we maintain peace, and leave to time, and the rapid march of our settlements, we may ensure the peace ul, but certain enforcement of our rights. Let this matter, said Mr. Calhoun, bave its own natural course, and, by and by, you may easily as one plucks a ripe peach, gather what thus it would be hardly possible to tear away.
